Ref: NFPA 70E - Another small town in Wisconsin?

Dear Mr. Denny Daggett:

Years ago there was a bumper sticker that read, "If you think OSHA is a small town in Wisconsin, you're in trouble!" Well, recently OSHA has reared its head again. This time the name of the "town" is NFPA 70E and it can have an impact on America's commercial and industrial facilities as great as the original OSHA regulations. NFPA 70E is concerned with preventing injuries while working on or near electrical equipment, and incorporating NFPA 70E into your electrical safety program ensures your compliance with OSHA's electrical safety regulations.

Masters' Academy, a professional training company, specializes in electrical safety training and program implementation for both commercial and industrial companies. The Academy recognizes the difficulties and confusion associated with NFPA 70E and has developed a proven program which makes NFPA 70E simple to understand and implement.

I have enclosed a brochure which outlines our "free" NFPA 70E Overview Course. If you are interested in scheduling our "free" overview presentation at a Chamber of Commerce meeting please contact me at 800-390-4366 or 920-904-2892.

Sincerely,

Monty Wilder P.E.
